

Serving and Celebrating a Diverse World

Global Citizenship Programs in Diversity and Inclusion

Students learn about sales, customer service, bookkeeping and other aspects of running a business at the FedEx Office "Store," one of several mock companies at Junior Achievement BizTown in Memphis.

Impacting Lives In Our Local Communities

National Day of Service

Dr. Martin Luther King Jr.'s birthday is observed across the U.S. as a National Day of Service. In 2016, 649 FedEx team members in 10 cities spent the day packing more than 123,000 meals as part of a company-wide Stop Hunger Now Project.

FedEx team members in Newark, NJ take part in a Stop Hunger Now volunteer activity during the Martin Luther King Jr. Day of Service.

Magic Johnson Foundation Annual Holiday Party

FedEx supports the Magic Johnson Foundation's annual holiday programs for hundreds of disadvantaged children and families in the Los Angeles area. We serve hot meals, provide gifts for children and host crafts activities. Days before the event, FedEx team members load hundreds of newly donated toys into the FedEx Special Delivery truck, drive them to the holiday event location, and assist in greeting and serving the children.

FedEx volunteers serving meals at a Magic Johnson Foundation Holiday Party in Los Angeles.

FedEx Ground Contributes to Heritage Park

FedEx Ground, headquartered in Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania, is contributing $500,000 for Heritage Park, a tribute to Negro League Baseball legend Josh Gibson. The park will host historic photos and educational displays of Negro League Baseball in Pittsburgh and serve as a gathering place for special events.

Pictured from left, Sean Gibson, Executive Director of the Josh Gibson Foundation and great grandson of Josh Gibson; Angela Wheland, Vice President of Communications for FedEx Ground and Sean Gibson's daughter, Ashley Gibson-Foullah.